

Dr. Qufli Osmani is a psychologist and university lecturer with extensive academic and professional experience in teaching, research, and psychometric evaluation. He currently works as a lecturer at UBT in Prishtina, where he teaches courses in Health Psychology, Psychometry, Statistics, and Forensic Psychology at the bachelor's and master's levels. Over the years, he has contributed to several higher education institutions, including UPZ, Prizren, and Fama College, where he also served as Dean.

Dr. Osmani has collaborated with the Ministry of Education and Science and international organizations on the development of educational programs and psychometric assessments. His academic background includes a PhD, a Master's, and a Bachelor's degree in Psychology from Ss. Cyril and Methodius University in Skopje. He is the author of multiple psychology textbooks and research publications, and has participated in numerous regional and international conferences. With strong technical and analytical skills, multilingual proficiency, and broad experience in academic and applied psychology, he continues to contribute to research, teaching, and educational development.